STUDENT CATHOLIC ACTION
OF THE PHILIPPINES
OFFICIAL E-NEWSLETTER
JAN-APRIL 2018

FROM THE NATIONAL DESK

Our team is happy and excited to introduce the first issue of "White & Blue", the official e-newsletter of the Student Catholic Action of the Philippines. The title bears itself SCAP's identity of Faith and Action and the colors of Mary's fidelity to God's Word which is clearly wrapped in the lyrics of "Army of Youth," SCAP's hymn.

We collected stories from the different clusters and dioceses. We featured major events and program across our circles. These activities define the organization's integration into key areas of a student life to "transform the world." Publishable three times a year, the newsletter aims to tell our readers that students can live in the Gospel Values and witness the "standards of truth" even amidst the changing times.

Check out our updates and activities that resulted in significant impacts in the communities where SCAP serves. Happy reading!

SCA COUNCIL THOUGHTS

So far, it has been a fruitful year for the movement as we carry out the mission of forming Catholic student leaders and transforming different communities.

It is pleasing and inspiring at the same time to know that even the youngest of students have the heart to serve others. Let this bulletin remind you that our movement continues to grow ever wider. Continue to live out our mission of evangelizing and remember that our capacity to transform is measured only by the bond of our community.

Take care of one another and continuously ask God for the grace to serve others. To Christ the King, Love, and Loyalty!

The National Capital Region Cluster coordinator and representatives, namely Kim Karlo Pablo, Jan Ver Dominic Edra and Lian Manalang have started contacting the different NCR Cluster units in their goal of reorganizing and reestablishing coordination among the latter.

The first visitation was with the new unit in Far Eastern University last April 15, 2018, wherein the officers highlighted their plans of gaining recognition from their administration under their campus ministry office; moreover, they presented their achievements for the past academic year which focused mostly on helping nearby underprivileged communities.

The second and third visitation was done on the same date — May 5, 2018 — at the Philippine School of Business Administration and the University of the Philippines Diliman respectively. The officers from PSBA have shared their struggles over the years due to lack of programs aimed at forming both their officers and their members, while UP SCA shared some of the issues they faced. Despite some setbacks, the two units continue to work towards their vision. Both units have laid out their plans for next academic year, hopeful that they bring their aim to fruition.

The NCR coordinator and representatives continue to contact nearby units for dialogue. The first NCR Cluster meeting is set to be held on the 3rd week of June. //REPORTED BY JAN VER DOMINIC EDRA & KIM KARLO PABLO

12th NatCon yields support among Cabanatuan schools

After the 12th SCAP National Leadership Conference held at Lopez, Quezon, Diocese of Gumaca last October 26-29, 2017 we were inspired and challenged. We learned many things. Asking for help is not a sign of weakness but humility, listening to others attentively and acting zealously. We also learned the importance of fervent prayer.

We discovered that when you help a specific community, don't offer your genius solution but instead ask them what common problems they are experiencing and their ideas on how to solve those problems because they are in the situation, not us. They know better than us.

We had a lot of activities for almost 12 years especially religious ones, but we never had a program that answers the problems of the students and communities where we belong. Hence we promised to create sustainable plans focusing on the five areas of SCA: Education and Values Formation, Sustainable Environment, Peace and Social Justice, Science and Technology and the New Media.

And to sustain the enthusiasm, we shared it to other members by celebrating the SCA Solidarity Day (November 13, 2017) and SCA Day (November 26, 2017) inspired by the format of 12th SCAP National Leadership Conference.

Furthermore, to scale up the quality, spirit, and scope of our service, we asked the permission and endorsement of our Cabanatuan Catholic Educational System (CACES) Superintendent and CIC President Rev. Fr. Michael Feliciano I. Veneracion to introduce SCA in CACES Schools. It is a blessing that Fr. Veneracion supports our endeavor.

We initially met with the principals and campus ministry coordinators of the different Catholic School of CACES last April 21, 2018, at Maria Assumpta Seminary.

There are six (6) Catholic Schools who responded positively, and they are willing to join the first ever SCAFE that will be hosted by SCA College of the Immaculate Conception Unit this June 2018.

SCA Lopez shares school supplies, partners eco-saving awareness with Project for the People Philippines-Malaysia

The Student Catholic Action – Lopez, Quezon Council, together with the Project for the People Philippines-Malaysia, served 310 students with school supplies from Kindergarten to Grade IV at Culong Elementary School in Brgy. San Francisco, Lopez, Quezon last March 28, 2018. Culong Elementary School is a non-central school located at a mountainous area crossing a river.

Victoria Ling Tze Ang, a Malaysian citizen but Filipino by heart, heads the Project for the People. Carlos Ortiz and Kaiye Ong, coordinators from the Philippines and Malaysia, accompanied Ang in the service-mission in collaboration with student volunteers of SCA Lopez. Incoming students received sets of school bag, pencil, pencil case, eraser, ruler, crayon, and notebook, and an eco-bag from Malaysia.

Aside from the distribution of necessary school supplies, the students were taught about the hazards of single-use plastics in their communities. Volunteers introduced the 4r's (REDUCE, REUSE, RECYCLE, and RECOVERY). SCA Lopez facilitated a classroom discussion about the 4r's and CLAY-Go (Clean As You Go) to both students and their parents.

Next NLC host conducts first diocesan confab

BACOLOD CITY - The University of Negros Occidental – Recoletos hosted the 1st Diocesan Leadership Conference (DLC) in the Diocese of Bacolod with the theme “Love and Loyalty: Committing Today’s Youth Evangelization into Transformative Action” on April 17, 2018, at Sta. Monica Retreat House.

Five (5) units convened in the program, namely, Bago City College Unit; Ramon Tores National High School Unit; and the University of Negros Occidental – Recoletos Junior High School, Senior High School and College Units.

SCA leader, Javeriel Tillada of UNO-R College Unit brought down the idea to the local SCA team and was favored by all. The event provided the members a preparation for the upcoming Visayas Cluster Leadership Conference (VCLC). Engr. Steven Nelson Segura, SCA Bacolod Coordinator, together with the working teams, focused on organizational matters followed by a talk of another SCA leader, Elmeer Meeynard D. Calimpus.

The conference elected Bago City College Unit as the next host of the diocesan conference. This effort also marks a commitment of SCA Bacolod to conduct the program annually and is just in time for its preparation for the hosting of the 13th SCAP National Leadership Conference in 2020.

SCA Tagbilaran adds 771 more new full-fledged SCAns

The Campus Ministry-Student Catholic Action Diocese of Tagbilaran successfully and fruitfully finished the school year 2017-2018 with an addition of 771 newly-inducted SCAns. This number adds to the family of 2,832 SCAns from the different 78 SCA affiliated units within the diocese.

SCALE (SCA Leaders' Encounter) for high school units and Youth Encounter (YE) for college units has been serving as the culminating part of the stages towards full-fledged membership. These activities were given until the last part of April 2018 due to the schools' conflict of schedules.

On the other hand, the Diocesan Secretariat has produced 23 graduates from the various colleges and universities in Tagbilaran City. And hail to the Secretary-General of the Diocesan Secretariat, Dale Cyril S. Dejecacion who graduated Magna Cum Laude in Bohol Island State University - Main Campus (BISU-MC). He took the degree program of Bachelor of Science in Secondary Education major in Mathematics.

Last school year was indeed a success, but SCA Tagbilaran did not stop there. Hence, they are more eager to do their mission this coming school year 2018-2019. As a kick-off, the SCA Diocesan Council had its planning and revising of the CM-SCA Constitution and By-Laws and was followed with the planning of the new set of staff last May 11-13, 2018.

Meanwhile, it is with great joy that the Diocesan Secretariat of Tagbilaran shares the new set of staff for the next academic year. They will be the hands and legs of the Student Catholic Action of the Philippines (SCAP) in touching and transforming lives in the grassroots. They are as follows:

SCA CDO reorganizes in training marathon

A fresh core team of chaplains and animators in Cagayan de Oro push to the next level in reorganizing SCA units in the Archdiocese of Cagayan de Oro. In the first quarter of the year, SCA CDO conducted a series of training, formation, and workshops of key animators and students who will facilitate the mobilization and re-opening of SCA programs this coming school year.

The national secretariat facilitated two Students Chaplains and Animators Formation Exchange (SCAfe) programs last February 3-4 and March 3-4, 2018.

Aimed at understanding the basic identity, mission and essential purpose of the movement, SCAfe gathered eight schools, namely: Lourdes College, St. Mary's Academy of Carmen, St. Joseph Academy (El Salvador), Sto. Nino High School of Gitagum, Liceo University, Sacred Heart School of Montessori School, MOGCHS, and Xavier Academy.

The animators who attended SCAfe proceeded to a Preparatory Cell Meeting Marathon Workshop last April 8-9 to equip them with skills in handling PCMs, especially for pioneer groups. A strategic planning followed by a send-off of new student leaders teamed with trained animators was held last May 20 at the Archbishop's House, Cagayan de Oro City.

FEARS

I always tried to make it to the morning Mass.

The brownish book of a Carmelite mystic always getting its way to my breakfast table, a cup of brewed coffee — serene and sacred AM. Then after having my slice of healthy pastry, I would always remember to bring my holy rosary made of freshwater pearls. 19 minutes before six: the Holy Mass was an escape from all the noise of real life and politics.

This was my Catholic lifestyle (the same with my grandsons and daughters and a whole bunch of religious brothers out there) until April 16 rang “the wakeup call” and threatened to break the glass-made illusory peace among indifferent Christian Filipinos — who always thought that they were completely well protected from the fangs of evil and governmental persecution. Thanks to Sister Pat and her cruel detainment, we finally realized that the conflicting and a deficient line between our Catholic and social duties was always holy and healthy confusion.

So the whole time I was trying to isolate my spiritual life from the realm of poverty and politics, I was reading the Bible wrong. And now that we already uncovered their tracks, it is a little more than an open secret now that the power of the government lies in the fear of the people. That is, fabricated fear. Fear of the truth, and press freedom, and foreign assistance, and opposition. By the time we know it, this fear that was just fake and made-up was already turning itself into hatred: now we hate the poor, and the oppressed, and the least advantaged. Now we hate Sister Pat.

Who would have known that in a sea of eight and eighty million Filipino Catholics, a 71-year old Australian nun would (almost) be the only one brave enough to break this chain of fear and hatred. While we were feeling fulfilled in attending one-hour Masses, she was spending the last 27 years of her life here, in selfless service of the poor and the peasants. Undoubtedly, it is faith (and an accurate reading of the Gospel) which strengthens her in a time of fascist attack and governmental persecution.

I always tried to make it to the morning Mass. And that's it. Perhaps it was fear that made me contain my being Catholic in just a series of morning Masses and private prayer. Thank you Sister Pat. You have set us free.

SCA BLOOD

Two young alumni Claretian SCAs share leadership, faith growth

Being a student leader is not easy. Sometimes I would really feel the pressure, especially when the weight is really on me. But, if I keep that mindset, then it would really be tough for me. SCA has been around for almost a decade in Claret School of Quezon City. It is still well supported and recognized by our administrators. And, yes, It is clear to see that we really put our word into PRAYER and ACTION and I am proud of my fellow SCAs and our unit in general for that.

Being a student leader is quite challenging but fun and meaningful at the same time. I get to meet new friends and to learn more about the movement. The challenge is to make sure that we, as leaders are consistent and committed to accepting the challenge of Jesus Christ - "Come and Follow Me."

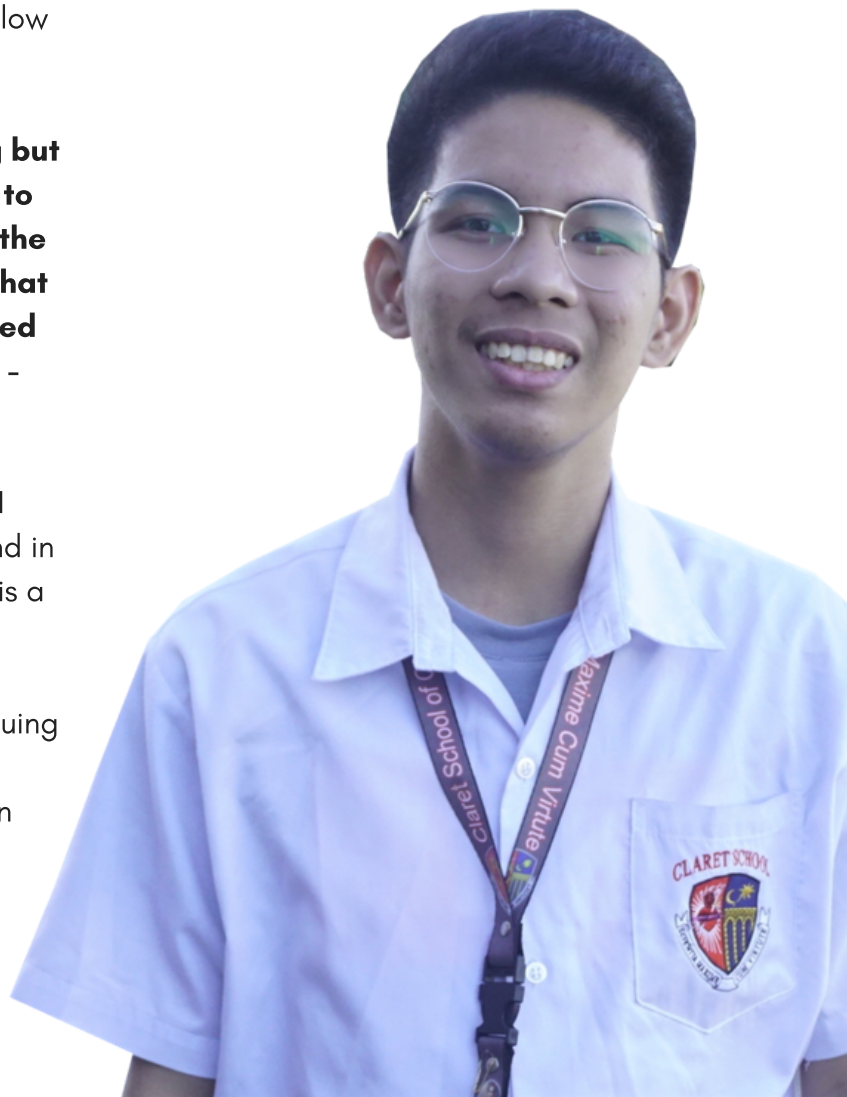

Having this experience left lessons to me that I can bring, share, and witness wherever I go and in my daily living. As the saying goes, "Every day is a struggle to become a better person."

Right now, I am a graduate of Claret and pursuing my college degree at the University of Santo Tomas. I am looking forward to a better SCA in our unit.

SCA BLOOD

I pray that our leaders, who we have handed over our responsibilities, to continue what we have started and what our previous batches have started. I am very confident that the legacy we left in Claret, our Alma Mater would still bloom and would continue even for the next generations of SCAnS to come.

SCA leadership is not only for the best and the brightest. Everyone can lead. We just need to be humble and to always keep our feet on the ground. Being a leader is not being on the top nor earning fame. Being a leader is being one with the flock and leading them to the right path without leaving anyone behind. Being a leader is not just keeping in mind that you are a leader, but also you have to work on it in mind and heart. Being a leader takes responsibility because you are what others look up to, and most importantly, being a leader is also one who learns how to follow.

I know SCA would still produce more servant leaders who can lead our nation through the Word and action. I am proud to be an SCAn and a Servant Leader.

"I still remember the days when I started joining SCA in Claret School of Quezon City. It gave me a refreshed meaning to my faith. The organizational activities, the bond that was created made it more memorable. Before SCA, I was just a teenager who wanted to be accepted and to belong to a group or school club. There were hardships in life where you need people to talk to. SCA did that for me which is more than being just an organization. I recalled the event that gave me a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity to meet His Holiness Pope Francis. Not everyone will be given that chance. I was delighted, SCA gave me that hopeful day. In my SCA journey, I appreciate the guidance and support of the national team and all my fellow SCAnS in the ministry. I continue to nurture my spirit as a college student now."

SCA Speaks

SCA is committed to proclaiming the Good News brought about by Jesus not only by word of mouth but also by influencing the community and committing themselves to working towards social transformation.

I would like to share a meaningful ministry in SCA Cebu to find ways of addressing that challenge, a change that is rooted in the example of Jesus Christ. What we did is to choose a community where we were able to find out through a survey that young students lack Christian life formation. I committed to doing the work and found myself in the rural area of Maslog, Danao.

Reflecting on the Gospel of St. Mark, we are called to share the gospel with every person. Given such mission, I joined our team to invite young people from the area and facilitate a 4-day catechists' training in our school. It is for them to become catechists themselves who can help spread the Good News in Maslog, Danao.

All the aspiring catechists were divided into three groups according to the specific age bracket of the children (4-7, 8-12, 13 above). The catechists formulate modules that will guide them in the catechism coursework. We, together with the youth in Danao, taught the gospel for one week and concluded the catechism with a program that can sustain our purpose in living the Good News of Christ.

I am personally grateful that greatness of spirit lies within our capacity to reach out to people even in most straightforward yet inspiring ways. SCA Cebu is expanding our mission in more creative approaches like teaching children how to take care of the earth through basic theatre workshops.
